As one of the largest trade associations for rental housing providers, the Apartment Association of Greater Los Angeles (AAGLA) supports the Glendale Coalition for Better Government (Glendale C.B.G.) in making the City of Glendale accountable for mishandling surpluses realized from fees charged for water and power.

AAGLA is supporting the complaints brought by the Glendale C.B.G. because landlords are directly affected by the increase in electrical and water rates. It's illegal to implement an electrical tax increase without the constituents of Glendale voting on it. It is also illegal to charge a higher water rate than what's required to fund the service. It's unjust.

It's important to make the City of Glendale responsible for their misdoings and we at AAGLA appreciate the Glendale Coalition for Better Government for doing so. Furthermore, AAGLA supports the case brought against the City of Glendale by the Glendale Coalition for Better Government.

Sincerely,

Earle Wasserman, President
